Dr. Goldberg Ear Nose Throat and Facial Plastic Surgery expands its already comprehensive menu of services to further enhance patients' quality of life.

BY ERICA YOUNG

As the warm weather begins to cool, and the busyness of summer shifts to the introspection of autumn, people naturally begin to look inward. It's a time of year when people consider making changes to improve their health or enhance their appearance. At Dr. Goldberg Ear Nose Throat and Facial Plastic Surgery in Montgomery County, they can accomplish both.

is especially excited about a recent extension of services.

"We have expanded our dermatological offerings to feature a new skincare med spa," he says. "This has helped us achieve our goal of creating a unified space focused entirely on patient needs and service."

Dr. Goldberg's med spa includes a variety of treatment levels, such as laser skin resurfacing, neurotoxin injections, and medically guided dermal fillers, as well as microdermabrasion and chemical peels. With every itating sinus conditions. Dr. Goldberg, who is a certified rhinologist, works with patients individually to understand their needs and develop a treatment plan designed to accommodate their lifestyle.

"We've seen a growing trend around nasal care, with our patients wanting to take care to develop the right, healthiest breathing techniques," he explains. "Corrective rhinoplasty is an option to get there. We can help patients improve their athletic goals, address sinus allergies, and help with breathing in general."

The med spa aligns with the facial plastic surgery aspects of Dr. Goldberg's practice to offer patients comprehensive care and natural-looking results. Modern techniques such as the Ponytail Lift and the upper lip lift are designed to replace the overuse of fillers that tend to provide an "overdone" look. Other popular options include brow and neck lifts, blepharoplasty (eyelid surgery), and customized techniques to augment the lips.

When it comes to facial plastic surgery of any kind, Dr. Goldberg focuses on conservative, trusted, and affordable solutions.

"People come to us looking for facial plastic surgery that doesn't come with radical financial changes or harsh complications," says Dr. Goldberg. "We've focused our practice on providing that through a variety of options."

Whenever a patient comes to Dr. Goldberg with an interest in facial plastic surgery, the interaction begins with a thorough consultation. Dr. Goldberg will review the areas of the face or neck the patient wants to change, and listen closely to what the patient hopes to accomplish. By the end of the one-on-one consultation, the patient should have a keen understanding of the available options so they can make an informed decision as to which option best aligns with their goals.

No matter the patient or the treatment plan, Dr. Goldberg and his team focus on results that can have a dramatic effect on a person's quality of life.

"Our patients want conservative, trusted treatments that achieve the results patients expect," he says. "We use the latest in safe treatments and technology to deliver those results, with great outcomes that last, and I'm really proud to say that." ■
