Doc Bresler's Cavity Busters Expands with New Oral Surgery Practice

Doc Bresler's Cavity Busters, a trusted family-owned pediatric dental practice, has expanded its commitment to exceptional patient care by adding Oral Surgery to its services. Founded by the late Dr. David A. Bresler and now run by his dentist children—Drs. Josh, Tracey, Jason, Jill, and Rachel Bresler—the practice has been a leader in pediatric dentistry since 1982.

With the addition of board-certified oral surgeon Dr. Alex Geiger, alongside their longtime orthodontic partners Drs. Andrew, Andrea, and Steve Appel of Brace Busters, Cavity Busters now offers a full spectrum of dental care.

A Seamless Dental Care Experience

Noble Oral Surgery & Implants is now open. Families seeking expert, compassionate, and convenient care can now find all their dental needs met at Cavity Busters' Jenkintown location. This integration ensures smoother communication between providers, continuity of care, and a more comfortable experience for young patients.

"We've always prioritized making dental care as accessible and stress-free as possible," says Dr. Josh Bresler. "By adding oral surgery, we're continuing that mission, ensuring children receive care from specialists who truly understand pediatric dentistry."

This expansion allows for in-house surgical procedures such as wisdom teeth removal, extractions, frenectomies, and other necessary interventions. It also facilitates better collaboration between pediatric dentists, orthodontists, and oral surgeons, ensuring patients receive the most effective and timely treatments without delays.

Expanding Access to Quality Dental Care for All Families

Cavity Busters has always been committed to ensuring that all children receive high-quality dental care. The practice is well known for treating patients with special needs and those requiring additional healthcare considerations.

Dr. Geiger says he is excited "to be part of a team that prioritizes compassionate, high-quality dental care."

"We believe every child deserves excellent dental care," says Dr. Rachel Bresler. "By integrating oral surgery, we provide necessary treatments in a setting that's familiar and reassuring for both kids and their families."

For many parents, scheduling specialist visits can be a challenge due to work and school conflicts, transportation limitations, or financial concerns. Having an in-house oral surgeon removes some of these barriers, making it easier for children to receive timely care without the added stress of locating and traveling to a new provider.

Additionally, parents and caregivers who need extractions, implants, or other surgical procedures can schedule their own appointments with Dr. Geiger, making it even more convenient to care for the entire family's dental needs in one location.

"We're a family practice in every sense," says Dr. Jason Bresler. "Not only are we a family-run business, but we've always treated our patients like family. Now, with oral surgery on board, we can take care of everyone—kids, parents, and caregivers alike—all under one roof."

Meet the Experts: A Unified Team for Pediatric Dental Care

"Joining the Cavity Busters family is an incredible opportunity," says Dr. Geiger. "This practice has always been about putting patients first, and I'm excited to be part of a team that prioritizes compassionate, high-quality dental care."

Drs. Andrew, Andrea, and Steve Appel, longtime partners of Cavity Busters through Brace Busters Orthodontics, are equally excited about this expansion. With oral surgery now in-house, orthodontic treatments such as braces and Invisalign can be seamlessly coordinated with necessary surgical interventions.

"This integration allows us to collaborate more closely to ensure the best outcomes for our patients," says Dr. Andrew Appel. "When orthodontic treatment requires extractions or other surgical procedures, having everything in one location makes the process far easier for families."

Dr. Steve Appel adds, "It's rare to find a practice that offers pediatric dentistry, orthodontics, and oral surgery all under one roof. This truly is a game-changer."

A Legacy of Excellence in Oral Health Care

For decades, Doc Bresler's Cavity Busters has been more than just a dental practice—it has been a community cornerstone, dedicated to improving children's oral health.

By offering comprehensive services in one location, Cavity Busters is making dental care more convenient and effective for families across the region. Pediatric dentistry, orthodontics, and oral surgery are now available in a single, trusted practice, ensuring a smoother experience and better outcomes for all patients.
